If the Bluetooth button is hidden, you will find it under the up arrow in the taskbar at the bottom of your screen (see below). When the Add a device window appears, click "Bluetooth". Browse your Blackweb headphones on the list and tap it to connect to yourself. Alternatively, look for "Bluetooth" in your Windows search box. When the Bluetooth window and other devices appear, make sure the Bluetooth is turned on and click "Add Bluetooth or other device" and select your device from the list. 3. Confirm successful pairing when you successfully match your Blackweb headphones to your phone or laptop, the LED on your headphones will stop flashing and you should hear an audio confirmation that your device is paired (a tone or voice confirmation). 4. Troubleshooting your connection Bluetooth If you have followed the above steps and your device is still not paired, try the steps in our detailed guide on how to fix Bluetooth pairing problems. And if you are ready to abandon your Blackweb headphones, take a look at our choice to get the best Bluetooth headphones with less than $50.
